FAITH CLINIC

10 Warning Signs of Spiritual Compromise

A short Bible-study guide for personal reflection, small groups and church teaching.

1. When conviction becomes easy to ignore

A repeated refusal to respond to what Scripture is showing you.

2. When convenience becomes more important than obedience

Choosing what is easiest even when it conflicts with clear biblical principles.

3. When money begins to control decisions

Allowing financial gain to determine choices that should be governed by integrity.

4. When approval matters more than faithfulness

Changing convictions primarily to avoid criticism or gain acceptance.

5. When small exceptions become normal

Repeatedly making “little” compromises until the boundary disappears.

6. When unhealthy influences become trusted voices

Allowing relationships or media to shape values without discernment.

7. When prayer and Scripture are neglected

Spiritual disciplines gradually disappear while other priorities take their place.

8. When sin is renamed instead of confronted

Using softer language to avoid admitting what needs repentance.

9. When accountability feels unnecessary

Resisting wise correction and assuming spiritual maturity means needing no help.

10. When outward appearance replaces inward faithfulness

Focusing on how faith looks to others while neglecting the heart.

Reflection Questions

Where am I most vulnerable to compromise? What Scripture speaks directly to that area? Who can help me remain accountable? What one change can I make this week?

Prayer

> Lord, search my heart and reveal every area where compromise is taking root. Give me wisdom to recognize it, courage to confront it, and grace to walk faithfully with You. Amen.
